Friday 27th May and Saturday 28th May

Unusual aircraft in the area

On Friday 27th May and Saturday 28th May we will have a special Aer Lingus aircraft at Bristol Airport for the 80th Anniversary of Aer Lingus flights between Bristol and Dublin.

To celebrate this historic event the Iolar aircraft (photo below), a twin engine bi plane, will be undertaking flights from Bristol Airport. The route will include flying over the site of the former Whitchurch Airport, the original location of Bristol Airport.

The route and timings will be subject to weather but flights are expected to take place between 09:30 and 13:00 on Friday and again between 09:30 and 13:00 on Saturday.

As well as press attending we expect there may be general interest from aviation enthusiasts wishing to watch the aircraft flights.
